MAYOR CALLS FOR CLEAN-UP

TOMORROW AND WEDNESDAY SET FOR HOME IMPROVEMENT.

TRUCKS OUT THURSDAY

Rubbish Will Be Collected If Placed In Convenient Place.—Fix Up And Paint Up, Too.

Everyone in Maryville, property owner or tenant, is urged by Mayor W. O. Garrett, in a proclamation today, to observe tomorrow and Wednesday as Clean-up days.

"Clean up, fix up, paint up," the mayor's appeal says.

Everyone, everywhere, is asked to peep around the corner of the house, survey the alley and back yard—then make a vigorous effort to accumulate all rubbish, trash, or what-not, pile it in a barrel, bag or box and place in on the driveway.

Mayor Garrett said it should be placed in a convient place so that the city workers will have no trouble in locating and getting at the rubbish. Trucks, six or eight of them, will start out Thursday morning and continue through that day and Friday to gather up all of the trash, where it will be carted off to a central dumping ground.

The Mayor admonishes all citizens to get their "stuff" out by early Thursday morning, as the trucks will not make any trips back to retrace streets over which they have gone. He also stated that no paper or brush, or anything that can be burned will be accepted by the trucks. Mr. Garrett said that those who wish to carry off their own trash can cart it to Water street between Sixth and Seventh streets, where city employes will see that it is disposed of. But this must be done on either Thursday or Friday.

This will be a chance to delve around in the attics, clear out the overloaded closets and bring up the unnecessaries from the basement, and the city will see that all is disposed of on Thursday and Friday. Those who have held off painting are advised to take advantage of the opportunity and co-operate during the four-day period to brighten up the city, place the lawns and terraces in good condition, and rid each premise of the winter's accumulations.

The mayor warned the owners of vacant lots, and also others, that premises that are not cleared during the clean-up period will be served with notices to remove the trash at their own expense.

The city administration has been forced to hold off from declaring a clean-up week on account of unfavorable weather and also on account of the district high school contests held the last three days last week. But the mayor was in earnest this noon when he asked the co-operation of everyone to help Maryville appear at its best and shake off the last vestages of winter debris.

Absent From Church, Is Found Near Death

Neighbors Force Way in, Discover Miss Cecelia Miller, Organist, Unconscious—Dies This Morning.

Miss Cecelia Miller, organist at St. Patrick's Church, died at 4 o'clock this morning at her home on South Walnut street. Miss Miller did not attend church yesterday but an inquiry was not made until about 9 o'clock last night, when neighbors forced their way in through a basement window of her home and found her unconscious on the floor in the basement, where both kitchen and dining room are located. Death was caused by uremic poisoning.

Arrangements for the funeral have not been completed.

Miss Miller was 53 years old. She came here about ten years ago from Holt County and had served as organist all of that time. A cousin is the only immediate surviving relative.

I. O. O. F. Members to Go to Red Oak, Iowa

Home Coming Day Will Be Held At Liberty, May 15; Expect Large Delegation for N. W. Missouri.

Maryville lodge, I. O. O. F., and the I. O. O. F. orchestra will drive to Red Oak, Iowa, tomorrow night. All members who can are urged to go.

I. O. O. F. home coming day will be held at Liberty, May 15, Sunday, when a large delegation from Northwest Missouri is expected to attend. Every lodge is urged to be present as there will be all day services.

N. W. Carmichael, 81, Dies Late Yesterday

Funeral Services Will Be Held at M. E. Church Barnard, 2 o'Clock Wednesday.

N. W. Carmichael, 81 years old, of Barnard, died of heart trouble at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He had been in ill health for several weeks.

Mr. Carmichael was born in Henry County, Ind., and lived there until 1880, when he moved to South Missouri. In 1890 he moved to Barnard vicinity where he had lived since that time.

He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Barnard.

Mr. Carmichael's wife died about five years ago. He is survived by a son, W. J. Carmichael and a daughter, Mrs. A. J. Price and two grandchildren, Juanita Carmichael and Woodrow Carmichael, all of Barnard; two brothers, David Carmichael, Urbana, Mo., and Henry Carmichael, Toledo, O.

Funeral services will be held at the Methodist Church at Barnard at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The Rev. Arthur Olson will conduct the service. Burial will be at Barnard.

35 CENT LEVY, SAME AS 1926

ORDERED BY COUNTY COURT FOR 1927 EXPENSES.

WILL RAISE $250,000

State 13 Cent Levy and Road and Bridge 10 Cent Levy Brings Total to 58 Cents.

In order to raise a revenue of $250,000 this year, which it estimates will be necessary to defray the current expenses of the county, the County Court today ordered a levy of 35 cents on each $100 assessed valuation, as fixed by the state and county boards of equalization.

This is the same levy as made last year by the court. As each township has certified to the county clerk that a 5 cent levy will take care of all the township's expenses, 30 cents of the levy will be for the county and 5 for township purposes.

The levy is based upon an assessed valuation of $64,955,842, which is apportioned as $59,078,740, real estate and personal property; $5,296,162, railroad, telegraph, telephone and electric light companies; and $580,940, merchants statements.

The entire levy ordered by the court for 1927 taxes is 58 cents, 1 cent greater on each $100 assessed valuation than last year. Besides the 35 cents for county and township, a 10 cent levy was ordered for township road and bridge purposes and 13 cents for state revenues. The state levy was 12 cents last year on each $100 valuation, the increase this year being on the soldier bonus, from 3 to 4 cents. Three cents will be for blind pensions, 5 cents general state revenue and 1 cent state interest.

Of the 30-cent levy, the bridge fund will get the biggest share, or fourteen-thirtieths, according to the court order. The levy is divided as follows: 4-30 for salary fund; 14-30 for bridge fund; 5-30 for contingent fund; 6-30 for pauper fund; and 1-30 for jury fund.

Levies for school purposes in the county at large were ordered as follows:

"It is further ordered by the county court that the clerk of the county court extend on all taxable property assessed in Nodaway County, including all railroads, telephone, telegraph and electric light companies valuations, also on all valuations from merchants statements for 1927, the levies of the several school districts of said county as are or are to be certified to the county clerk by the several school district clerks of the districts for defraying of expenses of maintaining the public schools in these districts in Nodaway County for the taxes of the year 1927."

For special road bond funds, the following levies were ordered:

Grant township, 15 cents on each $100 assessed valuations.

Independence township, 15 cents.

Nodaway township, 10 cents.

Washington township, 10 cents.

Return From Health Meet.

Dr. C. P. Fryer, county health physician, and Miss Margaret Davison, health nurse, returned from Jefferson City, Saturday night after attending a state meeting for health workers.

MISS ALBERT DIES IN HOME

TEACHER HERE 44 YEARS TO BE BURIED TOMORROW.

IN WORK UNTIL 1922

Many Maryville Grown-Ups Pupils of Veteran Educator.—Body Arrives From Ironton.

Tribute at High School.

A silent tribute of five minutes was paid the memory of Miss Ada Albert at an assembly at Maryville High School this morning. The period of silence was closed with a prayer by Miss Fannie Hope.

Miss Ada Albert, for forty-four years a teacher in the Maryville public schools, died yesterday at the Baptist Home in Ironton, Mo., which she entered last August. The body arrived in Maryville this morning.

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the First Baptist Church, conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Guy L. Prather, assisted by the Rev. T. J. Puckett. The body will lie in state at the church from 12 to 3 o'clock.

Miss Albert was forced to give up her school work about four years ago when her health failed. During this time she had suffered a stroke of paralysis, and had been helpless. A heart attack was the immediate cause of death.

The veteran teacher was born Dec. 2, 1856, at Charlotteville, New York. She came to Maryville in the fall of 1878 from Darien, Wis., where she had taught two years, having taught before she was old enough to receive a certificate under the Wisconsin school law.

Miss Albert had made a record as a teacher in Maryville that is seldom equalled among educators. The only place in the Maryville schools open when she came here was the colored school, which she applied for and taught one year. In 1879 she was elected to the grammar department of the public schools and taught in that position two years, followed by one year in an intermediate department.

In 1881, while the new school building was being erected, schools were opened in various places over town. Miss Albert conducted a school for several grades of pupils at her home on South Vine street seven months. Prof. D. L. Chaney, the superintendent, had charge of several grades in rooms in the basement of the Linville hotel.

In February of 1882, school opened in the new building, Miss Albert taking charge of the primary work, for which she was especially adapted. The work began in the famous "little white room" or "kitchen," as it was called, that was built by the side of the main building for the primary department. She had hard work here, having as many as eighty and ninety babies to start on the high road to knowledge at the beginning of a term. If she had not gained their confidence at the start the work would have been impossible. They went to her with their wants and wishes, griefs and fears, and always received the encouragement or sympathy they needed. Many of them kept up the habit until they were grown, and their children did the same thing; for in many cases she had started whole families—father, mother and children. Many of Maryville's present business men and house wives at one time were pupils of Miss Albert.

Besides her regular school work Miss Albert taught a number of years in the summer institutes for teachers. She was a tireless worker—one who may have grown tired in the work, but never tired of it.

Miss Albert was a member of the First Baptist Church and was nearly as regular in her teaching in the Sunday School as in the public schools. For fourteen years she served as president of the Woman's Missionary Society.

The school superintendents under whom Miss Albert worked, and their terms of service, are as follows:

W. A. Charles, 1877 to 1879; E. T. Carr, 1879 to 1881; D. L. Chaney conducted private schools while new building was being built in 1881-1882; D. L. Chaney 1882 to 1884; E. J. H. Beard, 1884 to 1892; A. E. Clarendon, 1892 to 1896; B. F. Duncan, 1896 to 1901; L. M. Dougan, 1901 to 1902; C. M. Lieb, 1902 to January, 1904; C. A. Hawkins, Jan., 1904 to 1913; W. M. Westbrook, 1913 to 1916; J. M. McDonald, 1916 to 1920; and L. E. Ziegler, 1920-1922.

She had been re-elected for another term as principal of the Garfield school when her health failed. Much of her teaching, however, was done in the Jefferson ward school.

Surviving are one brother, Edgar T. Albert, who has been connected with the electric railway system of Los Angeles, Cal., and a sister, Mrs. S. J. Rowley of Maryville. The former will be unable to come for the funeral.

Drillers Again —.. —.. —.. —.. —

Operations Resumed On Quitman Oil Well Prospect After Shipping Cial From Centerville, Ia.

After being idle for three weeks on account of weather and lack of coal, George Rose, contractor for drilling the oil well of the Quitman Gas & Oil Company, this morning started preparations to fire up his engine and commence drilling operations again.

He was forced to let his machinery idle for over a week, but finally got coal through from Centerville, Ia., to Skidmore, and thence hauled to the well location, nine and a half miles northwest of Maryville. He will start drilling at a depth of about 750 feet.

RAIN RECORD BROKEN HERE

PRECIPITATION FOR APRIL MEASURED 7.81.

HALF OF DAYS CLOUDY

Highest Temperature During Month Was 84 Degrees; Lowest was 34 J. R. Brink Announces.

Maryville's thirty years' record in precipitation for the month of April was broken when last month's rainfall measured 7.81, J. R. Brink, local weather man, announced this morning. Until last month the greatest precipitation for April had been 6.63. That record was made in 1897. The smallest amount of rainfall ever recorded here in April was .72 of an inch in 1902.

Fifteen cloudy and fifteen clear days were reported last month.

The mean temperature for April was 58.9. The normal temperature for this division in April is 50.1.

The highest temperature during the month was 84 degrees. The thermometer registered 84 degrees on April 26 and again on April 28. This record was surpassed in April 1915 when the highest temperature was 96.

The lowest temperature in April was 34 degrees registered the first day of the month, the lowest April temperature on record was April 5, 1920 when the temperature was 6 degrees.

RED CROSS FUND HERE IS $800.80

Quota for Nodaway County Is About $1,500 Now, Edward W. Gray Announced Today.

Nodaway County actually has sent $800.80 to aid in flood relief work in the inundated territories, Edward W. Gray, disaster relief chairman of the Red Cross, announced this afternoon.

"Nodaway County ought to give $1,500," the chairman said. The quota originally was $700, but conditions grew so much worse in the flood regions that the original quota was doubled.

Mass meetings have been held at Hopkins and Clearmont. It was reported that more than $100 had been given at Hopkins and nearly $100 was given at Clearmont. However, these amounts have not yet been turned into Mr. Gray so these amounts are not included in today's report.

It was fitting that the seniors at Quitman High School who are having commencement week should start their activities in the "great world" by giving $5 toward the relief sufferers. There are five members of the class.

Other donations for the day are:

$29.25 city of Arkoe. Money turned in by J. E. Wyatt.

Old town parish, Conception, Father Placidus, $22.

Myrtle tree, money turned in by Everett Wray, $7.

Collected at the banks $65 with $25 of this donation given by the Knabb Country Club.

Incidental gifts, $10.

One hundred per cent of the money that is turned in is sent to relief areas. The disaster relief committee is bearing all the expense of collections, mailings and many other expenses connected with the work.

MAIL ROBBERY TRIAL BEGINS

LIFE OF HUGH D'AUTREMONT, ALLEGED DYNAMITER, AT STAKE.

BROTHERS AT LARGE

Oregon Trio Accused Of Shooting Down Three Trainmen, Blowing Up Mail Car With Clerk.

Jacksonville, Ore., May 2.—Smartly dressed, smoothly shaven and with a carefree care, Hugh D'Autremont, alleged train robber and murderer, went on trial here today.

"There is one lucky card left in the deck for me," said the dapper 23-year-old youth, who is said to have directed the dynamiting of a Southern Pacific train in Fiskiyou tunnel, four years ago, as he was taken from the dingy little jail to the courthouse.

Although one of the oldest towns in the Pacific Northwest, Jacksonville has only 1,000 inhabitants and most of them appeared to be on the streets today, betraying intense interest in D'Autremont's trial.

The youth is being tried specifically for first degree murder in connection with the death of C. O. Johnson, brakeman, who was shot down and killed during the dynamiting of the train.

Roy and Ray D'Autremont, brothers of the man on trial, accused jointly in the bold robbery, are still at liberty.

Would Be a Lawyer.

The youth, who was the object of an international search for more than three years, appeared to be in his usual good spirits as the session opened at 10 o'clock this morning. He still maintained his academic interest in the procedure, for Hugh intends to become a lawyer if he is successful in his legal battle to escape the gallows or confinement in a federal prison.

Four counts of first degree murder are against D'Autremont and his twin brothers, Ray and Roy. Hugh is being tried on only one but the result of it probably will determine the fate of all four counts.

But even though the fight for life is won, D'Autremont will not go free. If the state fails to hang him, federal authorities will claim the prisoner and the scene will be shifted to Portland for trial in the United States Court on charges of attempted robbery of a mail train.

Death If State Wins.

If Hugh is convicted at the state trail here, the penalty is death by hanging. If he is freed here and is convicted at the subsequent federal trial, the maximum sentence will be 25 years inprison.

The trial of Hugh D'Autremont brings to a climax one of the most noted crimes in the history of Oregon, involving the murder of four men and the endangering of the lives of scores of others.

On October 11, 1923, a Southern Pacific train left the little station of Siskiyou, near the Oregon-California line and rolled into a death trap. Entering Siskiyou tunnel, a bore in the mountains half a mile long, it was held up.

Three trainmen, resisting attack, were shot down in cold blood. A large charge of dynamite was placed in the mail car, the car was wrecked and the mail clerk was killed.

Authorities and special investigators assumed at once that the crime was the work of amateurs. It was too bloody, they said, and the over-charge of explosive denoted a lack of experience. Had the train carried valuable loot, which it didn't, it would have been torn to shreds by the force of the blast.

Clothing Near Scene.

Suspicion did not fasten itself on the D'Autremonts until clothing belonging to Hugh was found near the murder scene. Posse members then learned that the brothers had left their Eugene home and were suposed to have been in that part of Oregon. In the meantime they had disappeared. They were accused of the murders and the manhunt, which continued more than three years, was started and rewards totalling thousands of dollars were offered for their apprehension.

Hugh was arrested in Manila, P. I. a few months ago where he was serving as a private in the 30th U. S. Infantry. He was returned to San Francisco by government authorities. Later he was surrendered to the State of Oregon to permit trial on the more serious state charge of first degree murder.

Ray and Roy are still at large and if Hugh has any idea of their whereabouts he has declined to reveal it, in spite of prolonged questioning by postal inspectors while he was in their custody.

Parents Re-United.

Remaining close by their son as the trial got underway were the parents of the accused youth, Paul D'Autremont, Eugene, Ore., barber, and Mrs. Bell D'Autremont a resident of New Mexico.

The parents had been separated but a common grief and the call of blood relationship brought them together. They met here for the first time in years when Hugh was returned here and lodged in the Jackson county jail.

Both mother and father express confidence in the innocence of their son and Hugh has remained steadfast in his plea of being not guilty.

RESCUE GIVES HOPES FOR 77

MINERS MAY YET LIVE IN FLAMING UNDERGROUND.

ENTOMBED SATURDAY

Sixteen Known To Be Dead From Blast, Thought Caused By Explosion Of Afterdamp.

Fairmont, W. Va., May 2.—Rescue alive of nine miners entombed for nearly forty hours gave hopes to rescue squads working with feverish energy today that 77 men still in the flaming underground tomb of the New England fuel and Transportation Co. mine at Lowsville, have have escaped death.

The nine miners, who with 100 of their fellow workers, were endangered late Saturday afternoon, when an explosion occurred far down in the mine, were brought to safety today but were too exhausted to describe the conditions of those left behind.

Seven others in hospitals here and in surrounding towns were recovering today from their injuries and burns and none was believed in a precarious condition.

Sixteen Known Dead.

Sixteen are known dead as a result of the blast, believed to have been caused by an explosion of afterdamp in the shaft.

The interior of the mine is afire, rescue workers said as they came to the surface today for equipment to fight the new peril.

Intense heat is bellowing up the shaft and the rescuers were unable to penetrate beyond the 3,500 foot level.

Equipment and men from Wheeling and other West Virginia towns have been sent to aid in the rescue work.

Fear Men Scorched.

The indication of fire burning underground caused Robert Lambey, chief mine inspector of West Virginia and several aides to express fear that the entombed miners have been scorched to death if they were not killed by the first explosion.

Lambey said that the explosion was similar to that at Dunwood, W. Va., two years ago, in which 119 miners lost their lives.

Officials at the mine and rescuers, however, hoped that the trapped men had been able to flee from the fire and reach fire proof sections in the mine.

BOOTH LIVES AFTER DOCTORS GIVE UP HOPES

Roanoke, Va., May 2.—The tenacious will to live which has kept Walter L. Booth existing eleven days with collapsed lungs came to his rescue again today after doctors and even close personal friends had abandoned hope.

The same physicians, who, following a relapse last midnight said: "He cannot live through the day," admitted this afternoon their patient had rallied and was "about the same" as he had been for days.

Sleep, even though fitful and induced by opiates, assisted the 18-year-old farm boy's improvement. Walter no longer gasped and sobbed, although he still complained of pains in his chest, induced by constant pumping of his arms to give him air.

Denies Minister to China Will Resign

Washington, May 2.—Secretary of State Kellogg today denied published reports that American Minister MacMurray at Peking would be recalled or would resign.

Shanghai, May 2.—The U. S. transport Henderson, carrying 1,500 U. S. marines, arrived today.

FUND DOUBLED BY RED CROSS

TEN MILLION NEEDED INSTEAD OF FIVE, SAYS APPEAL.

RIVER FLOOD SPREADS

Army of Workers Desperately Resisting Mississippi Is Increased 1,000 But Five Dikes Give Way.

Washington, May 2.—The American Red Cross today, upon recommendation of Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover and with approval of the central organization, decided to ask the nation to raise a minimum of $10,000,000 for Mississippi flood relief.

Chapters throughout the land were asked to double their present quotas to meet the urgent need throughout the flood area.

Confers With Coolidge.

This action followed a conference between Hoover and President Coolidge. Meantime the Red Cross announced its $5,000,000 campaign had gone over the top.

Secretary Hoover said there is no danger of plague; that relief work has been one scheme that cannot be further enlarged; and that some plan probably will be worked out to enable farmers to reclaim their crops.

Hoover indicated he believed the worst of the flood is over. No additional loss of life is expected. A complete system of communication has been set up so that whenever a levee breaks occur, Red Cross aid can be rushed to the area for the rescue of citizens, he said.

Hoover said he would return to the flood district Wednesday night to carry on his supervision of relief organizations.

"Nothing on earth can be done that isn't now being done," he declared.

Levees Break, Others Likely.

Memphis, Tenn., May 2.—The Mississippi river flood waters hammered unceasingly today at levees along the Louisiana side south of Vicksburg, Miss. Engineers warned that levee breaks may occur at any moment.

Levees near Bongers, twenty miles below Natchez, Miss., have given way and the break has widened to a gap 200 yeards long, through which the water is gushing in tremendous volume.

The torrent is sweeping the area as far south as the Black river and reaching far westward into the back lands of Louisiana.

The entire area of five parishes is endangered and thousands are hurriedly leaving their homes in the danger zone.

Further breaks, in the Mississippi levee along the Louisiana side would threaten the towns of Tallulah, Delta and Bedford and their populations. Scores of farm families have refused to leave home.

Work of the Red Cross relief organizations at Vicksburg, has been seriously hampered by the flooding of the boat landing.

1,000 More Men at Work.

One thousand more men were mustered today into the army of workers desperately defending Louisiana levees against the assault of the Mississippi river flood, with the safety of large areas of the state and the homes of more than 100,000 persons at stake.

From many points along the river, from Vidalia, La., to Delt Point and beyond, there came appeals for help as the water washed along the tops of levees. Men cast aside other work to join forces fighting back the river and still more were needed.

Fully 1,000 men have been added to the levee gangs in the past twenty-four hours.

Water roared in increasing volume through five widening gaps in the levee in Concordia parish, where efofrts to save the dike failed yesterday. The way was opened by the breaks for inundation of half a million acres of land, and a new exodus of thousands of inhabitants, whose lives were periled, was started.

Weather

Partly cloudy Monday and Tuesday with probably local showers by Tuesday; warmer in east and south portions Monday.

Aley Buys Registered Calf of Jersey Herd

Guy D. Aley, who lives north of Maryville, recently returned from King City, where he purchased a registered Jersey male calf to head a herd of registered Jersey, over which Mrs. Aley will have charge. According to M. Culver of King City from whom Mr. Aley purchased the calf, it is a direct descendant of two world champion milk and butter cows. Among the many high test cows in his four generation pedigree one produced 69 pounds of milk in one day; 1,121 pounds of butter and 17,253 pounds of milk in one year under official test.

May Drill for Oil in Buchanan County

Positive Indications Found Ten Miles Northeast of St. Joseph, Geologist Says.

Positive indications of oil in Buchanan county have been found by F. O. McCain of Topeka, Kan., geologist, who recently completed a survey for one of the large oil refining companies, according to Sunday's St. Joseph Gazette. In a report made several days ago, Mr. McCain recommends the sinking of a test well on what he terms Bermond Dome, located approximately ten miles northeast of St. Joseph.

Oil leases already have been obtained on about 4,000 acres of land in the vicinity of Bermond Dome and it is expected that work will start on the test well before summer. The leases are held in escrow in the Union State bank pending the sinking of the first well.

According to Mr. McCain, the eastern Kansas oil field, as well as the potential northwest Missouri oil fields, are controlled by a granite ridge, which started south of Eldorado, Kan., forms an arc that extends through Missouri and into the middle of Iowa, stopping at the Mississippi river in the vicinity of Davenport. This granite ridge, the geologist declares, forms the western wall of a subterranean passage or basin under Emporia, Topeka, Atchison and St. Joseph. The eastern wall is formed by the Mississippi lime strata, running through the middle of Missouri.

Mr. McCain is a geologist of note and has done much work for large oil companies in the United States. He recently obtained a block of oil leases in the vicinity of Topeka and the drilling of a test well there now is under way.

The acreage now under lease near the Buchanan-Andrew county line, it is stated in the geologist's report, lies on a well defined structural dome on one of the main foldings of the major anticlines, known as the Eldorado, Emporia, Topeka, Atchison, St. Joseph anticline, which parellels directly over and above the subterranean basin between the granite ridge and the Ozark uplift.

"This area should and will produce many commercial pools when proven up," Mr. McCain states.

The depth at which oil should be struck in this area is between 1,300 and 2,100 feet, although it is possible to reach the oil sands at a depth of approximately 700 feet, he says.

Burlington Junction Post Issues An Extra

The Burlington Junction Post issued an "extra" Saturday for circulation at Burlington Junction after the verdict of the jury in the case of Thomas Ashbrook of Burlington Junction, who received a sentence of forty years in the penitentiary for murdering Dewey Leonard on March 2.

The Ashbrook case was cover by the Post by Loren Smith.

BANK CLAIMS BEFORE COURT

DEPUTY COMMISSIONER FILES LIST OF THOSE APPROVED.

SOME HAVE PRIORITY

Payment in Full Is Asked for Drafts, Cashier's Checks and a Few Demand Deposits.

Total claims, as made in writing against funds in the Real Estate Bank and approved by E. C. Curfman, special deputy state finance commissioner, are $224,411.10, according to his report, filed with the circuit clerk late Saturday.

Of this amount $116,086.30 is demand deposit claims, $89,828.08 time certificate and interest claims, $17,555.42 savings account deposit claims, and $891.30 miscellaneous.

These claims were filed in the course of liquidation, and present a true and correct list of claims filed against the bank, and approved by Mr. Curfman, which he asks the court to examine and approve or reject. Judge Jesse F. Robertson named as special judge to pass on matters relative to the Real Estate Bank liquidation.

Mr. Curfman also presented preferred claims, which he asks be paid in full, amounting to $29,262.89.

Asks for Court Order.

The commissioner prays for an order by the court to direct him regarding the manner of payment of such preferred claims and to find and determine their rights of priority, and for such other and further orders and directions, touching upon payment and the manner and amount of each claim and when and in what amount they should be paid.

The preferred claims included drafts in favor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City for $182.28, $87.28 and $120.05. Other drafts were: C. D. Koch, $27.50; Ladies Auxiliary of the Seth Ray David Post, $6.75; F. W. Smith, $8; Nodaway Lodge No. 470, A. F. & A. M., $19.28; Garment Workers Union, $5.70; Mercantile Trust Co., St. Louis, $66.98; Morris Plan Co., St. Joseph, $18.

Cashier's checks on the preferred list: James Smith, $55; Investors Syndicate, $12.40; Checks: C. H. Coe, $35; Frank Holt, $2.48; and Walter S. Todd, $30. Overdraft, Mercantile Trust Co., $123.09.

Demand deposits, approved for priority payments:

R. E. Allen, $1,205.93; A. K. Frank, city treasurer, $11,500; Polk township trustee, $5,862.81; Maryville school district, $7,344.35; City of Maryville water department, time certificate, $2,550 and $50 interest.

Appeal in Clearmont aLnd Case Dismissed

An appeal from the circuit court, which never was perfected and has been pending in the Supreme Court for five or six years, on a contract over the sale of some land near Clearmont, has been dismissed, and the mandate returned to the office of W. R. Tilson, circuit clerk.

The suit was brought by Josiah A. Speer against J. Dee Louden, John J. Gilmore, E. S. Lingo, Richard T. Harriett and the Clarinda National Bank. The defendants lost their case in the court here and appealed, but never perfected the appeal.

The Supreme court by its mandate dismissed the suit and ordered the respondent to recover costs and charges.

HEAD OF BOY WORK COMING

FRANK M. LIDDLE, ST. LOUIS, TO BE HERE THIS WEEK.

VISITS THE HI-Y CLUB

Clubs In Burlington Junction And Elmo Also To Be Met.—Big Meeting Of Young People Planned.

Frank M. Liddle, state boys' work secretary of the Missouri Young Men's Christian Association, with offices at St. Louis, will be in Maryville on Wednesday and Thursday and possibly again on next Sunday afternoon for a young peoples rally. While here he will be the guest of the Hi-Y Club of the Maryville High School. In addition to addresses and conferences while here he will fill speaking engagements at Elmo and Burlington Junction.

Mr. Liddle has been in Maryville a number of times the past three years and is well known here among students and extremely popular as a speaker.

During his stay here the Y official may be in a position to verify the report of the Missouri Hi-Y News that Maryville is to be the scene of the Northwest Missouri Older Boy's Conference next November, for a three-day period.

A detailed schedule has been drawn up for Mr. Liddle's visit on Wednesday and Thursday. The first day will be given over to three addresses and personal interviews with such students of the high school who care to converse with him relative to youthful problems. He will deliver an address to a joint session of Hi-Y boys and their mothers in observance of Mother's Week. In the evening a Hi-Y Fellowship banquet will be held in honor of the visitor. Officers for the new year will be elected Tuesday evening and installed the following night. While they do not serve actively until the Hi-Y year officially ends, May 20, the installation is held to avoid a conflict with the Hi-Y decision meeting and Hi-Y graduation exercises.

Thursday morning Mr. Liddle will speak to the members of the Claytonian Literary Society. In the afternoon he speaks before the Elmo Hi-Y Club and in the evening holds a thirty minute conference with the organization at Burlington Junction, followed by an address at a rally of men and boys at one of the churches of that town.

Plans are being drafted to have Mr. Liddle in Maryville for next Sunday afternoon for a young peoples' conference. While he has made no definite announcement it it thought he will arrange to be here. Cooperating with the Hi-Y Club in putting over the conference, if Mr. Liddle will be here, will be the Epworth Leagues, the Christian Endeavors, the B. Y. P. U., the College Y. W. and Y. M. C. A., the Girl Reserves, the DeMolays and Boy Scouts. A committee will formulate a program representative of each body. It is hoped to set a new record in an afternoon young peoples' session.

The schedule arranged and accepted by Mr. Liddle follows:

Wednesday

10:40—Address before Hi-Y Club. A joint session of Hi-Y boys and their mothers in observance of Mother's Week.

11:20—Personal interviews for students.

12:00—Officers Luncheon at Puritan Cafe.

1:20—Address to student body of High School.

2:00—Personal interviews for High School Students.

6:30—Hi-Y Fellowship banquet in honor of the visitor. Installation of officers.

Thursday

10:40—Talk to members of Claytonian Literary Society.

12:00—Arrangements being made for special dinner.

7:00—Conference with Hi-Y Club at Burlington Junction.

8:00—Address at rally of men and boys at one of the Churches of the town.

At a meeting of a Hi-Y committee yesterday afternoon two sets of officers were nominated subject to election, in addition to a Hi-Y Board and chairman. Steps were taken to get a sponsor to succeed L. L. St. Clair. The Rev. W. S. Woodhull, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church and the Rev. R. A. Mitchell, pastor of the Methodist Church, South, will be considered for the chairmanship of the board. It is the policy of the club to have some minister serve in this capacity. Dr. C. C. James has held this place for three years. The nominees are Martin Lewis, jr., present member, Fred Waggoner, Fred French, Homer Ogden, and Elwood Barrett. The committee will submit the name of L. E. Ziegler as its new sponsor. Mr. Ziegler has taken a wide interest in the activities of the club and is acquainted with its work and on this basis the committee acted.

Erman Barrett was nominated as president and Edward Hudson as vice-president on one set, and Homer Warner as president, with Calvin Allen as vice-president, the other, Pete Dietz was nominated as secretary and Robert Wray as treasurer. Their names will appear on both sets with no competition.

Trademarks Are Old Friends

"Last summer" a customer said recently, "I was out in Colorado visiting my brother and his wife. I felt strange and homesick the first day, nothing seemed familiar, until I noticed that her little boy was wearing a True Blue play suit. We started talking about how sensible and long wearing they were for children, and I discovered that there was a Penney store in her town too and that she bought the same trademarked goods as I did back in Vermont. It was just like meeting old friends," she concluded.

"Old Friends"! That's exactly what the J. C. Penney Company wish their trademarks to mean to you. Friends that have proved their worth by years of good and honest service; friends that can be depended upon to greet you in a strange town and that will turn your shopping tour from uncertainty into an experience of trust and satisfaction.

ASKS CREDIT FOR FATHER

HE GETS TOO LITTLE APPRECIATION, SAYS REV. WOODHULL.

FURNISHES THE LUCRE

Parent and Child Should Go Half Way In Attempt to Understand, Says Pastor.

"Mother receives no more credit than she deserves, but father receives much less appreciation than he earns. About the only song dedicated especially to father has for its refrain, 'Everybody works at our house, but our old man'," The Rev. W. S. Woodhull of the First Methodist Church told his congregation at the father and son service yesterday morning.

"There are these three things that we should remember about the Best Dad ever:

"First—He does work. Whatever his occupation he works hard at it. He doesn't simply go out and shake the money tree for the necessary lucre. He must dig it up.

"Mother's work is so visible and direct in its benefits that we can't help seeing it. But father's work is outside the home and is not given serious consideration by the sons and daughters.

"Father is supposed to supply the steady stream of finance. How he receives his resources receives little attention.

"Second—The best dad ever tries to understand young folks in these days of juvenile wisdom are apt to think he is so far behind the times that he can't possibly see the life of today truly. Perhaps he can't. But he is honestly trying to see the boy's life through the boy's eyes. He wants to be fair. But does the boy or girl try as hard to see life through the father's eyes? It is just as far from the father's viewpoint to the sons as it is from the son's viewpoint to the father's who should each go half way. Father tries to understand.

"And it may be that father by reason of the perspective that the years has given understands the abiding values of life, which are the same yesterday, today and tomorrow, better than the boy or girl. Father may have some old fashioned notions, but he also has some of the wisdom that is very old fashioned because it never wears out.

"Third—Sometimes dad seems a little too particular. He appears to ask too much. But the children should remember that dad is not measuring them merely against the other boys and girls; nor yet is he measuring against his own accomplishments. But he is always holding them up against his own expectations. He has missed some of the dreams he had for himself and he is really living his life over again in these boys and girls of his. And when they fall below the high standards he set he is bitterly disappointed because he expects such great things of them. If the children love dad they should never disappoint his dreams for them.

"And we should all remember that our Lord took 'The Best Dad Ever,' as the symbol for our Father in heaven. He works and works for us and we are often unconscious of what he is doing daily for our sakes.

"He tries to understand us, to look at life through our eyes. And he does see some things that are hid from us. He has His great dreams for each of his children and for love's sake we should do our best to realize those dreams in our lives lest He be disappointed."

"What Will You Have" Asks R. A. Mitchell

"Life Will Give You What You Chose To Spend Yuurself For."

"Life will give you whatever you chose to spend yourself for. What will you have?" asked the Rev. R. A. Mitchell, minister at the M. E. Church, South, yesterday morning. The subject of his sermon was "What Will You Have?"

"The choices we make betray us," the minister explained.

"Men do not ask 'What voyages have you made, what riches have you accumulated, what friendships have you formed?' They want to know what use you have made of the opportunities life has presented to you.

"Brains and education are yours, with the strength to use and the opportunity to develop them. What will you do with them?

"The choice of a career is important. Yet it is only second to the choice of the way you will live your life.

"None of us will be content to be poor accountants, merchants, teachers, engineers. We shall be satisfied with only the best that we can be.

"You are sometimes called to chose where you will live your life.

"You are called now to choose how you will live it," the minister concluded.

Mrs. Richman Here.

Mrs. Luther A. Richman of Cedar Falls, Ia., came today to be the guest of Mrs. E. C. Braniger, Mrs. Martin Lewis, jr., and Mrs. Forrest Gillam for a week.

CAMERON AND LATHROP WIN

ST. JOSEPH CENTRAL LACKS HALF-POINT OF TOP.

RELAY RECORDS FALL

Marks Are Shattered in Both Medley and Half-Mile.—Two Other New Records.

Cameron High School Saturday won the Class A track and field meet under the auspices of the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College with 38½ points. St. Joseph Central was a close contender with 38 points, the half mile relay deciding the meet.

Lathrop won the Class B meet with 23.7 points. Rock Port was second with 22½ points and Maysville was third with 22, and Ridgeway fourth with 19.7.

Both the Class A relay records fell by the wayside when the Cameron quartet covered the distance in the Medley relay in 3 minutes 54.2 seconds. Tarkio formerly held the record with 4 minutes, 8 4-5 seconds. The other relay record to fall was the half mile which was won by Chillicothe in 1 minute, 37.3 seconds. The former record was held by Maryville with 1 min. 38.6 seconds.

Rinehart of Ridgeway, of Class B, shattered the shot put record when he heaved the pellet 43 feet 3¼ inches at a try for record. Moore of Ridgeway formerly held the record of 43 feet.

Chillicothe broke another record when Justice threw the javelin 158 feet, ½ inch, breaking the record of Reece of Maysville of 154 feet.

The old record was made by a former Ridgeway star, Moore. N. Bruce of Chillicothe equalled the record in the 440-yard dash, set up by Leon Ungles of Maitland, of 53 8-10 seconds, in 1925.

Three Places to Maryville.

Maryville placed in three events, Bratcher taking first in the broad jump; Kissinger finishing second in the 120-yard high hurdles and the medley relay team finishing third.

Linninger, a class B man from Rock Port, was the most versatile man on the track and field, accounting for 15½ of Rock Port's 22½ points. He was high point man of the meet as well as of Class B. He was hard pressed for the honors by Walker of Lathrop, class B, who counted 15 points by taking firsts in the 120-yard high hurdles, broad jump and 220-yard low hurdles. Linninger tied for first and second in the high jump, took second in the high hurdles, fourth in the broad jump, third in the javelin, second in the low hurdles and tied for second and third in the pole vault.

The next high point man of the meet was Kimes of Cameron, who accounted for 13 points by taking first in the high jump, first in the shot put, fourth in the hundred yard dash and third in the high hurdles. He is a class A athlete. Welch of Chillicothe, also class A, came next with ten points. He captured first in the low hurdles and the century dash, besides running in the half mile relay.

Other Nodaway Winnings.

Other Nodaway County teams besides Maryville to place in the meet were Burlington Junction and Ravenwood. Warehime scored 2½ points for Ravenwood when he tied for second and third in the pole vault. Jones of Burlington counted 2 points in a three-way tie for second, third and fourth in the discus. Jones won the medal when the coin was flipped.

The last Maryville record was cleared from the score sheet when the record was shattered in the half-mile relay by Chillicothe. Nine teams placed in class A and sixteen in Class B.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

T. Q. Curtis stages two intriguing contests in his big department store and, strangely the winners are the prettiest girls in the store—BILLY WELLS, NYDA LOMAX, WINNIE SHELTON, and others.

The prize for the second contest is an invitation to a big formal dinner party at the Curtis mansion and an evening dress and slippers for each girl for the occasion. Billy suspects that old Curtis has a motive behind his actions and generosity. These suspicions are heightened when CLAY CURTIS, son of the store owner, beggs Billy to have nothing to do with the contests.

Clay has disinherited himself and is now living with the Wells family in a poor section of the city, working in a factory by day and writing music at night. The friendship between Clay and Billy is founded on their mutual love of music. Billy hopes some day to be a great violinist.

The day Billy learns she is a winner in the second contest, a customer comes to her counter who enthralls her with his Oriental looks, his somber eyes and intimate smile. When she announces to Clay and her mother the prize she has won, Clay begs her not to accept the invitation to dinner. In the end, he proposes marriage to Billy, saying he is willing to give up his ambitions to make his own way and return to his father, so that he may have unlimited money to spend on Billy's musical education.

Billy refuses, for his sake, although she believes she loves him. At the dinner at the Curtis home, Billy Sees DAL ROMAINE again, the dark, mysterious stranger with hypnotic eyes, whom she had first met at the glove counter. She is completely under Romaine's spell and resents bitterly when Nyda Lomax takes his attention away from her.

Billy dances five dances with Romaine. She also dances with RALPH TRUMAN, whose father owns a factory in which Clay Curtis is working. When the dance is over, Billy waltzes up to Old T. Q. Curtis, who has scarcely taken his eyes off her, Nyda Lomax and Winnie Shelton during the evening. She tells him that it was a wonderful eve the hour strikes for Cinderella and her chariot to turn to a pumpkin. With unaccountable seriousness, T. Q. asks her: "What if the hour didn't strike ning and that she must hurry before for you at all?"

The next morning Billy receives a telegram from Curtis, asking her and her mother to be at his home at ten o'clock. At the Curtis home, Billy and her mother find Nyda Lomax and Winnie Shelton.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER 19

Billy and her mother seated themselves on a divan at some distance from Nyda Lomax and Winnie Shelton. During the unnatural silence that followed the perfunctory greetings, Billy grinned to herself, sure that Nyda and Winnie were as much in the dark as she was herself.

Nyda Lomax was unable to endure the silence long. "It was a lovely party, wasn't it?" she said at last, in her languid contralto.

"Oh, Mrs. Wells," Winnie broke in eagerly, "you can't imagine how lovely those society men were to us. They could have been ritzy, too, because we were only working girls, but they weren't—not a bit."

"Good morning, girls. Er—good morning, Mrs. Wells. I presume it's Mrs. Wells?" T. Q. Curtis appeared in the doorway, bowing in courtly fashion. "Allow me to make you acquainted with my lawyer, Mr. Warburton, Mrs. Wells."

Nyda rose, posing a little self-consciously, with one long, slim hand on her hip. "Mother had already gone to work when your telegram came this morning, Mr. Curtis. I hope it's all right for me to come alone—"

"Quite all right, under the circumstances." T. Q. smiled slightly. "And your—father, I believe it is, Miss Winnie?"

"Yes, I have no mother." Winnie's small, musical voice struck a plaintive note. "Dad had already gone to work, too."

"I had hoped the messages would arrive early, but you can talk my proposition over with your father and your mother this evening, young ladies. I'm glad, very glad indeed, that you could come, Mrs. Wells. Please be seated, all of you."

The department store owner took his own seat behind his big desk, and the lawyer, Warburton, drew a straight, high backed chair up to the desk for himself. His face was set and cold with disapproval.

"You may recall," T. Q. Curtis began, "that, in announcing the ten winners of the second contest, I told you that I felt the need of young life about me, in my home, now that I am childless as well as wifeless. My son, Clay, has, as he calls it, disinherited himself, for reasons that appear good and sufficient to him. The fact remains that I am a lonely man, and I have a great deal more money than it is good for one man to have."

As he paused, Billy reached for her mother's hand and held it tightly, but her eyes never left T. Q.'s stern, sad face.

"I have been casting about for weeks for a plan by which I could bring happiness to at least a few members of the only family I have left—my store family. It has struck me, during the years that I have been an employer, that girls have a much harder time of it than young men. If circumstances force them to go to work early, any high ambitions they may have are sacrificed to the immediate necessity of making a living. It was to learn your ambitions that I decided upon the questionnaire contest. The second contest told me what you would do with the money, opportunity, if they came to you. Last night, unknown to you, the third contest was held. There is no necessity for my going into details as to how I chose the three of you—Nyda Lomax, Winnie Shelton, Billy Wells"—he told the names off with one forefinger tapping the other—"for the rules of choosing must be my secret. You were chosen. And I hope that you will be glad, when you hear the proposition I have prepared to put before you."

Presley Warburton cleared his throat with angry vehemence and scowled with almost comical ferocity.

Nyda and Winnie stirred in their seats and smiled self-consciously.

"I don't intend to keep you in suspense long," T. Q. grinned at them. "As briefly as possible, this is what I should like very much to do—make you three girls my wards for a period of one year, taking you into my home exactly as if you were my daughters. During the year you will be my foster daughters—if you accept my offer—each of you will be trained for the work for which you have expressed a high ambition."

For the first time in her life Billy Wells felt as if her sturdy heart was about to fail her. Her hand tightened about her mother's until Mrs. Wells winced with pain.

"Miss Shelton—" T. Q. resumed after a slight pause.

"Oh, please call me Winnie, if I'm going to be your daughter!" Winnie's musical, eager voice pleaded. "Oh, I could just die, I'm so happy!"

"Foster daughter, or ward," T. Q. corrected her, but Billy saw that he was pleased. "Well, Winnie, you have indicated on the questionnaire that your highest ambition is to fit yourself to be an expert private secretary to a big business man. Is that right?"

A ludicrously expression swept over the fair, delicate features of the girl who had wheedled a school teacher into filling out her questionnaire for her. It passed quickly, however, and was succeeded by a lovely, eager brightness, as she nodded her little silvery blond head emphatically.

"If you accept my offer, Winnie, you will be enrolled immediately in the Knox Secretarial School, and will attend classes daily from nine to twelve. Your afternoons will be free—for pleasure."

"That—that will be perfectly lovely," Winnie gasped. "And I can really live here in this wonderful house?"

"I hope that all three of you girls will live here," he assured her. "Now, Nyda, if you don't mind my calling you that—"

"Oh, no, sir!" Nyda gasped, her eyes glittering with anticipation.

"Nyda, you have expressed a very noble ambition in your questionnaire and in your essay, 'If I had a hundred thousand dollars.' You say that you love children with all your heart, and that you would like to become a trained kindergarten teacher, so that you might do social service work in the day nurseries of a big city. Colfax is big enough now to need your services."

Billy was forced to utter admiration for Nyda's self-control. Not by a flicker of her pet black eyelashes did she betray the fact that her ambition had been born in Eddie Banning's fertile, crafty brain, and that she disliked children with all her lazy, man-crazy nature.

"You will enroll for a course of instruction in kindergarten work in the Cordelia Blount School, and will attend classes from nine to twelve, having your afternoons free for other study and recreation, just as Winnie will have."

"Oh, Mr. Curtis!" Nyda clasped her long, slim hands under her chin. "I never dreamed I'd be so lucky!"

"Now, little Spitfire." T. Q. turned toward Billy, with the air of a man who has saved the best for the last. "I told you I'd do the firing for the Curtis Store, and I'm giving you notice right now. You're fired, young lady, and ordered to devote your time to your violin for the period of one year. How about it?"

Tears blurred her eyes as she nodded at him dumbly, her lips trembling so that she could not have spoken to save her life.

"For the first time I find you at a loss for words," T. Q. jeered at her. "Billy, I have heard you play. I believe you have genius. I hear that my son believes you are destined to be the greatest American violinist. And he should know, for he has heard the best musicians alive today. Now, little girl, you're going to have your chance. First—how do you like this?" And he stooped for something concealed behind his desk.

When he straightened, he held a violin in his hands. The beautiful, gracious thing that he held clumsily drew the girl out of her chair. T. Q. put the instrument in her hands, smiled triumphantly as she laid it reverently against her cheek, her fingers trailing across its dark, gleaming surface as if she needed the assurance of every nerve in them that the wonderful thing actually existed.

"Professor Navratil made a trip to Kansas City especially to buy it for me," T. Q. explained, his own voice shaking a little with excitement.

"Now, girls, I do not want you to decide without taking time for thought. Mr. Warburton here has prepared an agreement, at my dictation, which he will now read to you, and which you will sign at this hour tomorrow, after consultation with your parents, if they are willing for you to accept. Please read the agreement, Mr. Warburton."

While the lawyer read the heavily phrased, legal document, Billy sat huddled in her chair. Vaguely she heard clauses that sounded queer—something about promising not to be married during the year, something else about "good conduct," an astonishing jumble of words in which the incredible sum of five hundred dollars a month as personal income for each girl was mentioned and emphasized, with restrictions that seemed absurdly simple—but what did it all matter? She held in her arms such a violin as she had dreamed of, but had never dared hope to own.

"Now, girls," said T. Q., "I am going to ask you to leave, without further discussion. Your parents need have no fear of your entire safety while under my roof. I have arranged with Mrs. Lucia Meadows, widow of a former governor of this state, to live here with you, and to act as your chaperon and as hostess of my home. I hope all three of you will decide to accept my offer. I shall do my utmost to make you happy. Good morning."

Mrs. Meadows! Billy stumbled to her feet. If Mrs. Meadows was to make her home here, then her nephew, Dal Romaine—

Nyda, her eyes boring levelly into Billy's said slowly, "I wonder how long the sheik's going to be in town. Look at her blush, Winnie. Well, I give her fair warning, girls. All's fair in love and war."

(To be continued.)

Clay dampens Billy's joy with his dark forebodings as to her future as T. Q.'s ward. Read tomorrow's chapter.

Quitman Has Its Closing Exercises

Woodhull Will Give Commencement Address for School Friday Night.

Commencement exercises for the high school at Quitman will be held Friday night when the Rev. W. S. Woodhull of the First Methodist Church here will give the address.

The bacealaurcate sermon was delivered last night by the Rev. J. H. Fanning. Other numbers on the program at the baccalaureate exercises were: Instrumental solo, Dorothy Cordell; girls' chorus, "Evening Prayer," Evelyn Malvern, Lucille McGinness, Edna McGinness, Locie Winslow and Lois Thompson; scripture reading; prayer; song by girls chorus; "Softly Now The Light Of Day;" sermoon; song, girls' chorus, "Thanks For Peace;" benediction.

Members of the graduating class are Wilma Logan, Frank Palmer, Jesse Anderson, Everett Frasier and Kenneth Thompson.

Hubert Garrett superintendent of schools at Quitman, accompanied the class to Maryville today where they had a class picture taken.

The members of the senior class voted $5 to give to the Red Cross for flood refugees.

Members of the junior class gave a banquet for the seniors and their parents Friday night.

Infant Daughter Dies at Pickering Friday

The eight-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Davis of Pickering died Friday. The funeral was conducted by the Rev. T. M. Walton, pastor of the Pickering Christian Church, at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Xenia school.

Miss Lucille Wright has taken a position as stenographer to M. E. Ford and G. P. Wright, Maryville attorneys.

Rev. R. E. Musgrave Reports On Christian Church Meeting

More than 400 delegates attended the Ninetieth Annual State Convention of the Missouri Disciples of Christ which was held at Chillicotne last week, the Rev. R. E. Musgrave of the First Christian Church, reports.

Among the talks of interest at the meeting Mr. Musgrave says were ones of Dr. E. E. Snoddy, professor of philosophy, Transylvania College and professor of doctrine, Bible School, Lexington, Ky.

The Rev. Mr. Musgrave makes the folowing report:

"The Making of the Disciple Mind", was the subject of one of Dr. Snoddy's talks. He said that there are two types of mind. Tribal and Frontier. The Tribal mind is sectarian, denominational, institutional. The frontier mind is pioneer type, the reformer type, the free mind that thinks for itself. He said the early disciple mind was of the frontier type, but some of the later disciples have settled back into the tribal type of mind. Dr. Snoddy pointed out that this is the danger in every reform movement. The second and third generations lose sight of the very gensus of the movements that brought them into being. A unanimous request was made that this lecture be put into print. Another lecture was "The Protestantism of the Early Disciples." They were protestants among protestants. "Where the Scriptures speak we speak and where the Scriptures are silent we are silent" Dr. Snoddy said the greatest motto ever set up by any leaders in a religious movement. No pioneer had ever before launched out upon a platform such as, "No Book but the Bible, no Creed but Christ."

We were real protestants in those days. His last address, "The Evangelism of the Early Disciples" should have been heard by every living evangelist among us or among any other body of evangelistical christians. "To save a church," said Dr. Snoddy, "from cultural religion is a difficult task. It's hard to keep culture human." Simple teaching is absolutely necessary. He pointed out how Walter Scott had the children repeat again and again the steps in the plan of salvation then sent the children home to tell their parents. Evangelism is intensely human and sacrifical. Evangelism is getting down among the people, with the simple message of the simple Gospel of Jesus that saves men's souls.

A second series of lectures were given by Dr. W. S. Lockhart, a college mate of mine at Drake. Dr. Lockhart is director of the The Church Life Foundation with headquarters at Indianapolis, Ind. This institution is a new organization among us and not only so, but is the first of its kind in any protestant body. Its purpose is to teach and promote a more efficient, "Order of Worship" especially for the morning service.

His lecture upon "The Need of Worship" sounded a new note in the midst of this materialistic age. It was a real challenge. "The Technique of Worship" drew forth many questions from the preachers. The fact seemed very evident that most of the preachers have thought very little about the purpose of worship, or how to lead a church into the attitude of worship. It was new to most of us.

"The Psychology of Worship" was likewise new and good for mind, heart and sour illumination. This new movement looks as if it may revolutionize much of our haphazard style of worship.

A third feature of the convention came from the layman. A fervent appeal was made that the layman have a full day at the next State Convention. This was heartily approved by all the delegates.

The Church Life Foundation and the layman movement clearly indicates that there is yet much of the "Frontier Mind" among the disciples of Christ.

The time and place of the next convention was not set, since it is not yet known where and when the next International Convention is to be held.

On the whole this was the greatest State Convention I have ever attended.

D. R. Eversole Stock to Be Closed Out

Building Then Will Be Remodeled, Trustees Who Financed Opening in 1924 Announce.

Stock of the D. R. Eversole dry-goods store will be closed out and the store building remodeled, it was announced today by Charles A. Jensen, trustee for about thirty-five persons who assisted in financing the store when it was opened by Mr. Eversole in September, 1924.

A statement by the trustee today said:

"In September, 1924, some thirty-five parties assisted Mr. D. R. Eversole in obtaining a stock of goods. From the first, the business has been undercapitalized, and rather than put up additional capital the stockholders have authorized the board of trustees to sell the same and pro rate the proceeds."

The trustees will seek to close out the stock at once, Mr. Jensen said, and then to remodel the building, in which they have taken over an equity. The building, in the center of the block on the west side of Main street between Third and Fourth strets, facing the courthouse, is considered one of the best business locations in the city.

Several inquiries have been received, Mr. Jensen said, but no arrangements have been made for its future use. The store was closed for inventory the middle of last week.

April Weather Bad for Early Farming

Washington, May 2.—April weather conditions were unfavorable to an early farming season, the Agriculture department said today.

Rains and frosts in the West caused delay in spring work and widespread damage to fruit and grain, the Department stated.

Ray O'Gradys underwent an operation this morning at St. Francis Hospital. His condition was satisfactory this afternoon.

Mackeye Hearing on Felony Delayed Week

Los Angeles, May 2.-Forothy Mackaye, stage star, won her first technical victory in court here today, when her arraignment on felony counts in connection with the death of her husband, Ray Raymond, was delayed one week.

The delay resulted from a faulty grand jury indictment.

THE BASEBALL SEASON OPENS

PICKERING DEFEATS HOPKINS AT PICKERING 4 TO 2.

A MARYVILLE WORKOUT

Twenty-Five Aspirants For Team Engage In Practice Game.—Hopkins Here Next Sunday.

Baseball started off in this county yesterday with amateur teams either in exhibition games or practice sessions, preparatory to the opening of the Northwest Missouri baseball league next Sunday. At Pickering, the Hopkins team, a member of the league, lost to a Pickering team by a 4 to 2 score.

Twenty-five or so aspirants for the Maryville club were divided up into two teams and held a practice game at the Fair Grounds here where few runs were clouted out and many a fly ball dropped—sometimes into an awaiting glove, and sometimes otherwise.

However, the practice was to help determine whom should compromise the roster of the Maryville Club and fifteen names were selected and certified to the board of control of the League.

Those who will appear in Maryville uniforms this year are:

Catchers: Delman Carmichael and Tommy Tobin.

Pitchers: H. C. Buhler, Arrington and Lewis.

Infielders: John Brennan, manager; Sellers, Phil Tobin, Roy Mayes, Tracy Lewis and Roy Arthur, Captain.

Outfielders: Ted Search, Bert Woollen, Schultz, Clark Scott and Bill Laughlin.

The battery for Hopkins was Humphrey and Reeder. Humphrey allowed nine hits, made six strike outs, and Hopkins made no errors. For Pickering Gumm and Burch were the battery. Gumm allowed seven hits and made eight strikeouts. Pickering made no errors.

Good hitting and fielding marked the play on both sides. Orme of Hopkins, right fielder, clouted out the only home run of the game. Next Sunday Pickering will play Bedford at Bedford, Ia., and Hopkins will open the League season here. The line-ups yesterday.

Pickering: Marvin Carmichael, ss; Frank Burch, c; D. Carmichael, 3d; Robert Gumm, pitcher; Martin Carmichael, 1st; Charles Carmichael, cf; Earl Anderson, lf; Paul Burks, 2b; Clyde Smith, rf.

Hopkins: M. Davis, ss; Orme, rf; Peve, 3b; Clark, cf; Reeder, c; Baldwin, 2b; Turner, 1b; Mathers, lf; Humphrey, p.

Maryville Team Is Typewriting Winner

Will Go To State Contest At Columbia; Oregon Beginners Go.—Dietz And Boeppler High.

Maryville High School's team will represent Northwest Missouri next Saturday in the advanced typewriting class at the state contests to be held at Columbia, it was announced Saturday afternoon, following the sectional contests in shorthand and typewriting at the State Teachers College.

Oregon won in the beginners class and will represent the district in that division at Columbia.

Pete Dietz of Maryville, who wrote 61 words a minute in the beginning class, will go to the state individual contest, and Darroll E. Boeppler, also hand. The ratings of the contestants of Maryville who wrote 64 words a minute, will represent the district in the individual class in advanced type writing.

There are no state contests in shorthand. The ratings of the contestants here are shown in the contest results.

The Oregon team, winner in the beginning or novice class, is composed of Mary Louise Schulte, Elma Milne and Louise Meyer.

The Maryville team, winner in the advanced or amateur class, is composed of Darroll Boeppler, Mildred Sandison and Thelma Stephenson.

Maryville finished second in the novice class and Laredo second in the amateur class.
